People who have not been hopeful of the real estate situation for five years are happy now over the belief that there has been, and is now developing, a marked change for the better. There have been professional optimists every year during of the certainty that business would been And there have been others who did not see any reason to believe any improvement would come. The effort to make prosperity, to force it where it is not yet in cyldence, is not alone confined to the real estate men. There have appeared in the columns of There have appeared in the columns of local newspapers during the very dullest of times in the last three years very glowing accounts of the wonderful improvement only a week or two ahead. REVIEW OF TRADE

The Holiday Eusiness Will Eclipse That of Any Previous Year-Enrly Winter Favorable.

"Business conditions continue of most encouraging character. A very satisfactory feature, and one full of encouragement to all who esale lines of trade, is the activity shown in retail trade in nearly all markets. Reports rerelived as to the holiday trade proper too, point to the present year consituting a record-maker in this respect. The importance of the early arrival of real winter weather to the retail distribution of heavy clothing and similar seasonable goods can hardly be overestimated. So pronounced has this demand become since the placing of the bret large rail orders that what is feet already lumarted to values seems ished so far as the outlook for the coming year can at present be foreshad-owed. Features of the week have been immense sales of Hessemer 14g iron, large sales of steel billets and heavy o'rders for ship plates, the latter at West-ern points. Car builders, too, have placed large orders, impelled by the enlarged demand from rationals which find their present facilities for handling goods
